Join fellow Prime Timers as we tour the Steven F. Udvar-Hazy Center, a branch of the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum, in Chantilly, Virginia on Tuesday, August 18th! Admission is free, and the Enola Gay is there!

The museum is at 14390 Air & Space Museum Parkway, Chantilly, VA. 20151. We will meet at the entrance at 10:30 AM to begin our tour.

The museum is accessible by Metro and shuttle bus. Take the Silver Line to Innovation Center, then take the Connector Bus 983 which runs every 25-60 minutes.

Parking is $15, and if you'd like to park on a nearby street to carpool and share parking expenses, call Chuck A. If you don't have Chuck's email or phone number, respond to dcprimetimers@gmail.com. He'll tell you where to park for free on a nearby public street to meet and carpool into the parking lot. Also, you are allowed one re-entry without paying for parking again.

The museum has a Shake Shack, and the menu includes burgers, hot dogs, sandwiches, salads, and frozen custard, along with two exclusives: The Constellation Crunch Concrete (dense frozen custard blended with mix-ins) and out of this world shakes! Other restaurants are nearby, too.
